Identity Crisis Imminent; The Red Bags Are Going

Andover is rapidly approaching an identity crisis. After seeing red for the better part of a year, the town's refuse pickup program has fallen victim to the oil shortage, forcing an increase in the price of the bags as well as a change in color.

The uniqueness of the Andover disposal program, which immediately delineated the town's borders by the appearance of the red bags, will pass by the wayside as soon as the current supply is depleted.

Beginning on or about June first, the town will be sporting buff colored bags with "Keep Andover Clean," emblazoned on them, to insure that collector's are picking up only Andover trash.

Town Manager J. Maynard Austin explains that as late as within the past week or two, the supplier of the bags had still hoped to provide Andover with its distinctive red bags. But, such is impossible due to the increasing costs of dyes, as well as shortage of materials in the petro-chemical industry, particularly the decrease of available resin to major manufacturers of plastic.

Costs have also risen, the town now paying 6½ cents per bag.

Thus, the new price from Andover stores, working with the Andover Chamber of Commerce, will be eight cents, which allows the town a half cent for handling and the merchant one cent for his operations.

Town Manager Austin remains hopeful that the demise of the red bags will be temporary.

DiAdamo Contemplates Next Step In Regan Controversy

By Linda S. Corbett

Attorney Carmine DiAdamo said he would be taking some action on behalf of Assistant Superintendent of Schools Edward Regan this week, but declined, as of press time, to say exactly what that action would be.

DiAdamo is representing Regan in an attempt to obtain a public hearing with the Andover School Committee, into the reasons they refused to reappoint Regan to the assistant superintendent post, at its April 10 meeting.

William Becker, who was relieved of English Department head duties at the same meeting, also without public reasons, continued to wait out his grievance procedure this week, because of time specifications in the procedure as provided in the teacher's contracts, the earliest Becker's grievance could come back to the board would be at its first June meeting. He seeks reinstatement.

Meanwhile, rumors of a petition drive to recall certain members of the School Committee were spreading around town this week, even as "Integrity is a Basic Skill"

Editorial Comment

Dear George

To: George Olesen
Andover School Committee

Dear George:

Since you have been receiving so much mail lately, some through the columns of this newspaper, we thought another advisory wouldn't hurt.

This has to do with your latest move to have the school committee meetings shifted back to the Stowe School meeting room, a successful venture on your part when Messrs Lyons and Wragg accorded you condescending votes.

Under present circumstances, holding school board meetings in the Stowe School, is like having the Bruins-Flyers playoffs in the Frost arena.

The Stanley Cup playoffs are being carried out before packed houses and the Andover school committee meetings will be doing the same for a while from all appearances. (The word 'packed' is an editorial slip, sorry.)

Also you noted that the meetings were shifted to conserve heat, but there seems to have been sufficient energy expended at recent sessions to offset that theory.

At the moment, you may be finding it difficult to find many people in agreement with your views at these meetings, but you must also think of the 4,000 plus voters who did support you at the polls, and who might show up at a meeting one of these nights.

While they may not be attending the meetings or signing petitions, you should provide advance information that they will be accommodated and seated. Stowe school does not encourage such attendance, even with the relief valve of having the East Junior High auditorium nearby.

Right now, you have the best show in town, so why kill the gate.

O! One other thing.

We've noticed lately you have a habit of walking around and talking to your colleagues (some of them) while the meeting is going on.

Now, we understand that some of the people in the audience hoot, make derogatory comments and are generally discourteous, and this isn't right, of course.

But you are in a different position, as an elected leader of the community. When you get up and walk around and check things with your colleagues, while another discussion is going on, it is generally considered quite rude.

We editors of community newspapers find our jobs confining and are mostly familiar with town politics. Occasionally we see some of that big city stuff on television, like when Dapper O'Neil in Boston rants and raves and sometimes walks around.

Frankly we don't go for that city stuff here, or the diversionary tactics.

We're sure you have a lot more on your mind regarding Andover's schools, George, and we'd like to have the opportunity to let everyone attend in a big enough hall and have you listen to us, as we listen to you.

Junk Car Drive Has Results

The annual junk or unregistered vehicle drive in Andover, conducted by Building Inspector Arthur Peatman at the direction of the selectmen has resulted in the removal of 117 of the 219 vehicles noted.

The annual drive began in mid-April with owners of vehicles being officially notified that junk cars on private property were in violation of town laws.

This was followed up by a second notice on May 1.

An additional inspection of the town and those notified was made this week by the building inspector who provided Town Manager J. Maynard Austin with the figures on the results of the drive to date.

The town manager notes that in many instances some of the people having junk vehicles on their property are second offenders. In some instances, he reports, the owners of the vehicles are repeaters from the drive of a year ago.

Austin emphasized that in such cases, the offenders will be finding the town not as lenient as in the past and court action to have the vehicles removed will be ordered.

Selectmen To Walk; Both Of Them

The Selectmen will be walking in this year's Memorial Day parade - that is what's left of the membership on the holiday weekend.

With a cautious eye toward the makeup of the board, which now includes a female member, Mrs. Janet D. Lake, Town Manager J. Maynard Austin asked the selectmen Monday night if they would be walking or riding in the parade this year.

Mrs. Lake solved the problem quickly by stating she had no objection to walking.

Chairman Milton Greenberg immediately said "then we'll walk."

After which the chairman apologized that he would be unable to be present on the holiday this year. He was joined in his regrets by Selectmen Alan F. French and George E. Heseltine who also will be unavailable for the holiday program.

Thus, Mrs. Lake will be joined by Selectman Edmund Sullivan, Jr., who said he would meet her at Florence and Elm streets the morning of May 27 for the traditional walk along the parade route.

Won't Offer Site For Regional Plant

By Robert E. Finneran
Managing Editor

As indicated in a TOWNSMAN report of May 2, Andover will not submit a site for consideration to the Greater Lawrence Solid Waste Committee for location of a resource recovery plant here.

The selectmen, Monday night accepted the recommendations of Town Manager J. Maynard Austin and Public Works Director Robert McQuade, which indicated that Andover does not have a suitable location for such a project.

Selectman Edmund J. Sullivan, Jr., Andover delegate to the regional study commission will transmit the feelings of the manager and the board to a meeting of the regional committee tonight in North Andover.

The resource recovery plant, which will be located in the area by the state to relieve the solid waste problems for Greater Lawrence communities, will be designed to take refuse from the towns and cities, and recover useable products as well as possibly providing alternative power sources.

Participating communities are expected to be Andover, North Andover, Methuen, Lawrence and Haverhill.

Tonight, Selectmen Sullivan will inform the GLSWC that following evaluation of three Andover sites in relation to the site selection criteria, and after an examination of the town's zoning bylaw, the selectmen have concluded that none of the sites meet the criteria and locating a facility on any of the sites would be violation of Andover's zoning bylaws.

Andover's three sites included an industrial zone at River road and Route 93, land available at Route 93 and Dascomb road and industrially zoned land in Lowell Junction.

All are beyond the centroid of the region being served, the town manager pointed out.

Also, all three are some distance from the point of concentration of refuse generation, thus increasing transportation costs to such a plant for participating communities.

Also to be considered in site consideration is availability of utilities, such as water and sewer lines.

Main problem with an Andover site is the town's zoning regulations.

Town meeting action would be necessary to alter zoning to accommodate such a plant. With a deadline for submitting sites near, there is insufficient time to call for a town meeting on any of the three Andover locations. In addition the town refused to accept a sanitary landfill proposal at town meetings a year ago, indicating a possible refusal of rezoning for a resource recovery plant.

Austin explained that he had conferred with town counsel on the matter. Counsel had advised that should the town wish to construct such a facility it could be permitted as a municipal use, but where it is a regional plant and profits are to be realized, a zoning change would be required.

The manager and public works director also concurred that if no alternate sites were available and better suited to such an operation, then there would be second thoughts about suggesting an Andover location.

Where there are alternate sites submitted by the other communities, and all closer to the center of the area to be served, then the town is not a prime site.

There's lots happening in Andover!

You can have a strong voice in our efforts to reduce your electric bills.

Ask your Congressman to help.

Keep a couple of things in mind when you ask for the new legislation we're going to need to help lower electric costs here in New England.

First, remember the real problem.

Residual fuel oil, now used to generate over 70% of your electricity, has jumped from $3.44 to over $10 a barrel.

These prohibitive prices have brought an astronomical increase in your fuel adjustment charge... and, incidentally, not one penny's worth of profit to your electric company! All of this money goes directly to our suppliers.

We are hopeful that fuel oil prices eventually will go down. And, if so, any and all decreases will be reflected automatically in your fuel adjustment charge.

But this is small consolation to our customers and we can't simply wait for lower oil prices — particularly since there are more immediate answers.

Coal is one and a good one... once we're able to burn it! Lower cost, higher sulphur fuel oil is another... again, given the go-ahead to use it.

And that's where you can help.

By urging your congressman to support reasonable modifications in the Clean Air Act so that we can purchase and burn lower cost fuels.

We believe that through the reasonable use of these fuels, we can lower your electric bills and still meet primary air quality standards.

This is one of several areas of vital interest requiring legislative action in which we are inviting our customers to help us gain congressional support in our efforts to provide lower cost electricity.

We urge you to clip the attached coupon and mail it to your congressman now. Your voice will be heard!

Sir: The excessive fuel costs our electric company has been forced to pay in order to provide reliable service have resulted in higher electric bills for both residential and commercial customers. I urge your support of pending legislation to modify the Clean Air Act of 1970 to permit the use of lower cost fuels to generate lower cost electricity.

Children's Room News By Jan Johnson

Bread plays a starring role in the Children's Day at the May Arts Festival. In an attempt to introduce children (grades K-5) to crafts that involve inexpensive materials readily available in most homes, we present a Bread Dough Crafts Workshop today, Thursday, May 16 at 3:30. Children are asked to bring six slices of fresh cheap white bread and a plastic bag. With the addition of a portion of glue, the bread becomes an ideal medium for the creation of paperweights, pencil holders, bracelets... anything you can think of. Everyone is welcome.

Parents, the time has come to register your pre-school child for Littlest Listeners Storyhour that begins next October. Children who are 3 1/2 (by October 1) to 5 years old, who are residents of Andover, who do not attend nursery school or kindergarten and who have not belonged to Littlest Listeners in the past, are eligible. Register your child early, to insure a spot. Children who attend nursery school, who have been Littlest Listeners before or live outside Andover, are eligible for Pajama Party, an evening storyhour very much like Littlest Listeners. You may register for that program at this time also.

Unlike some things, sweet potatoes actually improve with age.

Honored For Aid In IGE

Parent power was one of the major topics under consideration at a meeting of Parent Advisory Committee members from 14 area schools which was held at the Merrimack Education Center in Chelmsford recently. Parent representatives from Individualy Guided Education (IGE) Schools in Andover, Chelmsford, Littleton, Lawrence, Methuen, Fitchburg, Tewksbury, Tyngsboro, Westford and Wilmington attended.

A ten-minute slide-tape entitled "Parent Power in IGE Schools" was shown which had been made by the parents themselves. The presentation included slides taken in each of the 14 schools as well as the voices of parents from these schools. It was designed to illustrate all of the advisory, educational and volunteer roles which parents can fill in a school.

According to Mrs. Ann Murray, a field worker for the Merrimack Education Center who assists the parent groups, the slide-tape was based entirely on ideas furnished by the parents. The presentation has only been finished about a month, but already a parent group in Melrose has asked to borrow it, Mrs. Murray added.

"Parent Power" will also be shown at the 14 IGE schools during the coming weeks, and this fall a "Parent Power" handbook based on the slide-tape will be available.

At last week's meeting, the parents also discussed what they considered to be their right to have good communications between the home and the school. It was felt that principals, teachers and parents should all contribute items to the agenda of the Parent Advisory Committee meetings at each school.

In recognition of their service, the parents received Appreciation Certificates from the Merrimack Education Center. Among those receiving recognition were: Mrs. Joanne Devney, Shawheen School, Andover, and Mrs. Lucy Lancaster, South School, Andover.

The Individually Guided Education program which is used at the 14 schools is designed to accommodate individual differences among students in rate of learning and learning style while at the same time helping teachers and administrators build a capacity for continuous self-improvement.

Margo Kent

These Gals Are A Great Crew

By Helen M. Eccles
The Merrimack River, pollution and all, has some magic hold on its daughters -- half the eight members of the Phillips Academy varsity crew are day students, and an Andover girl is captain of crew.

Margo Kent, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. Leonard Kent, 57 Salem Street, is stroke and captain of the first boat. Rowing with her is Cornelia Kurth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl F. Kurth, 10 Rennie Drive, Karen Rainville of Methuen and Ann Pawlowski of Lynnfield.

Lean over the railing of the Route 93 bridge over the Merrimack River some afternoon a little after 2, and you will see them, six afternoons a week, pulling like galley slaves to the megaphoned shout of their coxswain. They row this sping in two new Garafolo eights -- to the uninitiate, that means two unbelievably and treacherously slender long wooden racing shells. These efforts are not guaranteed to give the girls the hands you love to touch, but is got them a win over the Radcliffe College first lightweight boat a week or so ago, and that's not bad for a schoolgirl crew, is it?

Now the PA girls' crew is aiming at the Interscholastic Crew Race at Lake Quinsigamond in Worcester on May 25. Margo and Kelley, the PA girls have a full racing schedule against the varsity girls' crews of MIT and Williams College, against St. Paul's and Buckingham Schools, racing in four-seaters instead of the eight seat boats, and against Exeter, as well as the Interscows.

The morale and loyalty of these daughters of the Merrimack is high. Hanging on the wall of Coach John McClement's office is a huge blue poster with this poem, written by crew member Cecily Harshman, dedicated to their own coaches and Coaches William Brown and Christopher Kirkland of the PA boys' crew:

"We know we drive you crazy
And we give you heart attacks
When our boat falls to the water
And the bottom nearly cracks
Tho' we put our oars in backwards
And we stop to fix our hair
And our shells almost tip over
When our oars are in the air
And we sometimes sub on your boats
Tho' we don't know your commands
And we could be 'Gyptian mummies
For the taping on our hands
Though we "finished end" forever
And our boat still isn't set
And the launch returns us wet
Though we can't see where we're going
So we block the varsity crew
We really had a good time
And that's why we're thanking you"

Captain Margo Kent also is head of the Student Guide her boat will row a 1,500 meter course against the other New England schoolgirl crews.

This is the second year of girls' crew for Phillips Academy, although it is the first year of coeducation. Crew sneaked a jump on coeducation when John McClement began coaching a boatload of Abbot girls last spring, at their request. He won instant loyalty and a 2-2 opening season, including a satisfying win over arch-rival Exeter to start the girls' crew recordbooks on the right note.

This year, under Coach McClement and Assistant Coach Wyn

Announcing the results, Daniel E. Hogan, president and chief executive officer, said the company's full fiscal year earnings would be $2.40 per share, a gain in earnings of $2.40 per share with earnings of $2.20 in fiscal 1973. Hogan said that his sales for the year - up from $170,000,000 in 1973 - also approached $180,000,000. Looking ahead, Hogan said, "We have no tainties" in the

Standex Earnings At Record

Standex International Corporation (NYSE) announced record sales, earnings and earnings per share in both the third fiscal quarter and nine-month periods ending March 31, 1974. The company predicted a continuation of the record results through the current fiscal year and the next fiscal year as well.

Earnings in the nine-month period amounted to $1.81 per share, up 20¢ from a year ago (before extraordinary items), and net sales amounted to $131,657,000, an increase of 17¢ from the year before.

Announcing the record results, Daniel E. Hogan, president, expressed confidence that, in the full fiscal year ending June 30, Standex would "meet or exceed" his previous projection of a 15% gain in earnings - or a minimum of $2.40 per share - as compared with earnings of $2.09 per share in fiscal 1973. He also reiterated that his sales projection of over $170,000,000 in the current fiscal year - up from $149,000,000 last year - also appears to be "on target." Looking ahead to fiscal 1975, Mr. Hogan cited the "uncertainties" in the overall economy, but he nevertheless predicted "another record year and an earnings gain of at least 10% over the current fiscal year." He added, "In sales, net income and earnings per share, Standex has had three to four years of quarter-to-quarter increases, and we hope to continue this record into the foreseeable future."

In the latest nine-month period, earnings amounted to $1.81 per share, up 20% from last year's $1.51 per share (before extraordinary income). Net income for the latest period amounted to $4,963,000, up from $4,472,000 a year ago, and sales increased to $131,657,000 from $112,685,000 the year before.

In the third fiscal quarter, earnings per share rose to 60¢ per share, up 18% from the prior year's 51¢ per share. Net income amounted to $1,648,000 on sales of $43,842,000, as compared with the prior year's net income of $1,460,000 on sales of $39,421,000.

Mr. Hogan stated that the nine-month results were "particularly gratifying in view of the many problems confronting American business today." He said that sales at all but one of Standex's operating units were ahead of last year, "which reflects the continuing and growing demand for our products. Our major operating divisions have taken pricing actions as necessary to recover cost increases to the extent possible. In the face of material shortages they have concentrated their production on the more profitable products, and they have maintained stringent cost control systems to meet our profit goals during the current period of economic stress."

Mr. Hogan indicated that while the sales and earnings gains came from many of Standex's major operating divisions, the company's Industrial Products Group is "especially strong" and has made "an impressive contribution" in the nine-month period. He said that Standex continues to stress internal growth, although the firm is currently looking at several acquisition prospects whose businesses complement current Standex operations. He added that Standex plans to spend approximately $6 million in capital expansion and improvements this year.

In view of Standex's "very favorable results," Mr. Hogan said, the Board of Directors last week announced the second quarterly dividend increase in the current fiscal year. The dividend was increased 9% to 12¢ per common share, which followed a 10% quarterly dividend increase announced in October 1973.

Standex is a diversified manufacturer operating in four basic growth areas: Consumer Products; Institutional Products; Graphics; and Industrial and Electronic Products.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Auchterlonie, 75 Red Spring Road, Andover, he was a member of the gymnastic and football team at Andover High before going on to Springfield College where he became a three time state champion on the side horse and All-American, and two time winner in the ECAS championships.

West Boosts Record To 4-1

By Rick Harrison

The Andover West Junior High 7th and 8th grade baseball team, behind the clutch relief pitching of lefty Dave Birnbach and the timely hitting of Ray Lynch and Greg Nicastro, nudged Westford 4-3 last week to avenge its only loss of the season.

The victory improved West's record to 4-1 and gave the team sole possession of first place in its division of the Middlesex League.

Andover West's other victories this season have come against Stoneham (8-4), arch-rival Andover East (9-3) and Tewksbury (6-3). The lone setback was a tough 2-1 loss to the same Westford nine.

Winning pitcher Birnbach came on in relief of starting southpaw Geoff Bragdon in the second inning, and between them the pair combined for a five-hitter while striking out three.

Andover trailed 3-2 entering the seventh-and-final inning, but pinch-hitter Ray Lynch drilled an RBI triple to tie the game 3-3.

Greg Nicastro, the team's top average hitter and RBI leader, then bounced a fielder's choice grounder to the infield to rescue Lynch with the deciding run.

Doug Roberts actually paced Andover's seven-hit attack with a 2-for-3 afternoon, and Bragdon came through with a long triple.

Throughout the season thus far Birnbach has been the key pitcher, while Dave Farrell and Nicastro have chipped in the biggest safeties.

Nicastro carts an impressive .545 batting average with six RBIs at present. Roberts is hitting at an even .500 clip, while both Farrell and left fielder Brian Bresnahan have identical .400 averages.

Defensively Farrell has been a standout at shortstop.

The Andover West crew, action last Tuesday at Salem, 15 N.H. coached by Jay Darrin and Les Taylor, were slated to return to

Injuries Plague Warriors

The Andover High varsity nine was struck down in Dracut last week as two starters were put out of action with injuries.

Third baseman Craig Traub was hospitalized with a spike wound in the back of the skull during fourth inning action and an inning later, Bob Driscoll, Warrior first baseman was hit in the head by a line drive causing temporary damage to the left eye. Driscoll's injury has finished him for the year. It is the second year Driscoll has been sidelined by injuries, a year ago suffering a fractured collarbone.

The Warriors have now lost three starters for the season. Steve Fabiani, a junior shortstop and Keith Verrette, a senior pitcher are both out for the season due to injuries.

In baseball action, the Warriors dropped a 3-0 decision to Dracut and lost 8-6 to Wilmington, the latter despite a great four-inning relief pitching job by Dave Mosher.

The Warriors hitting has been led by Mark Sweetser and Dave Winters with home runs, and Steve Danforth's two doubles and Bob Burrows two hits.

The Andover JVs continue their win skein, tying Dracut 1-1 despite Dan Billings no-hitter. Billings was aided in the seventh inning by Glenn Verrette taking over due to injury.

The underclassmen then defeated Wilmington 3-1 on a three-hitter by Bob Jenkins. This was Jenkins first start of the season and after giving up a run in the first inning, he turned in a sparkling performance.

The Warriors attack was led by Paul Fortier's two hits and Bill Brennan's steal of home with a seventh inning insurance run. The JV record now stands at 9-1-1.

Cub Pack 100 Has Derby

The 1974 edition of the Pinewood Derby was run by the Sanborn School Cub Pack 100 recently. Seventy hand-crafted cars were displayed in a fierce one and one-half hour set of competitive heats and six winning trophies were awarded to the proud boys with the fastest cars.

The race heats were conducted on the gleaming thirty-foot Pack 100 quadruple racetrack with electronic starting and tabulation devices performing faultlessly under the able hand of the Pinewood master of ceremonies, Stan Zlatev.

The winners of first-place trophies were Rick Eastman, Rick O'Neil, Jr. and Bill Martin while runner-up trophies went to David Golan, Eric Ren, and (tie) Brick George and Wayne Shaw. All races were extremely close contests, often with the photoelectric cells acting as the final arbiters.

Many awards were also earned by the Cub Scouts of Pack 100, starting with the Bobcat badge being presented to the brand-new members Tom Kimmerle and Kevin Salava. Wolf awards were presented to Mark Bolan, Tom Maginnis, Jerry Ahern and Craig Holmy. The many gold arrow awards went to Robbie Oozonian, Bob French, Scott Wicker, John Young, Scott West, Bill Martin, Tod Lockwood, Jerry Ahern, Tom Maginnis, Jeff Bruk, Dave Collins and Craig Holmy, while the silver arrow points were earned by the following Cubs: Robbie Oozonian (three arrows), Jerry Ahern, Craig Holmy, Tom Powers, Andy McKissack, Tom Maginnis, Dave Collins, Billy Martin, John Young, Scott Wicker and Bob French.

Webelos awards were presented to the oldest Pack 100 Cub by Dennis Klockow, Awards Chairman. The athlete, aquanaut and citizen badges were earned by James Burke, David Souter and Seth Ferber while the athlete and citizen went to John Berberian, John Maginnis and Ray Bourque, the athlete and aquanaut to Scott Elliott, and the citizen and aquanaut to Steve Zaft. The citizen badge was also earned by Jim Klockow, Eric Eastman and Jeff Lindquist while the sportsman award was given to Jeff Lindquist, Ted Liszewski and David Umanzio.

Open House At Reserve Center

The public is invited to the first annual Armed Forces Day Open House at the Armed Forces Reserve Center in Lawrence. According to Lt. David Price, the public affairs officer, the center will be open to the public from 11 a.m. until 3 p.m. on Saturday, May 18 in observance of Armed Forces Day.

The Army, Navy and Marine Corps reserve units attached to the reserve center are cooperating to provide a full array of military displays and demonstrations. A central feature of the open house will be a static display of both Army and Navy combat helicopters. The Navy Ocean Sciences Van, depicting the Navy's current role in oceanographic research, will also be available for public view-

The traveler, scholar and showman badges were given to Jeff DeVeau with the scholar and forester badges going to Pete Zlatev. The showman award went to Scott James, the engineer award to Scott Elliott, the artist badge to John Berberian and the traveler to Ray Bourque.

The Cubs are now preparing for the Pack 100 "Carnival Midway Spectacular" to be held at Sanborn School on Friday, May 17, and are also planning to march in the Andover Memorial Day parade.

The Marine Corps will provide a display of weapons including a field howitzer and combat vehicles. The Whitney International Badge and Medal Display will be shown. Other scheduled exhibits include a Hawk missile display, a 25-foot model of the aircraft carrier USS Wasp, the USS C. Bee, a mock-up of the bridge of a naval ship, an Army ambulance and first aid exhibit, continuous Armed Forces movies and demonstrations by the Sea Cadet Drill Team.

Another outstanding contribution to the open house will be the Army mess tent display. Free refreshments ranging from hot dogs and hamburgers to ice cream and coffee will be served.

The Armed Forces Reserve Center is located on North Parish Road in the city of Lawrence. Public parking is available across from the center.

Leahey On Top Crew

Junior Bob Leahey, a graduate of Phillips Andover Academy, rowed the number four position for the Harvard varsity lightweight crew as the Crimson defeated favored Princeton on May 5.

Harvard jumped into a slim lead during the first thousand meters to hold off the fast-starting Tigers, eventually crossing the finish line in 6:08, 3 seconds ahead of their rivals. The Crimson, now 4-0, merited acclaim as the nation's number one crew by the EARC Coaches' Association by virtue of the win.

Leahey, the son of Garret Leahey of 146 Argilla Road, is concentrating in English at Harvard.

PLANT SEEDLINGS: Cliff Kimmerle, Andover, Director of Manufacturing and Engineering Services at Western Electric's Merrimack Valley Works, prepares to plant a Scotch Pine seedling on the Works grounds. Four thousand of the seedlings, along with 2,500 Colorado Blue Spruce and 1,000 Mugho Pine seedlings, were distributed by the Merrimack Valley Works Chapter 78, Telephone Pioneers of America, during the chapter's annual hobby show in the Works auditorium. With Kimmerle are Mrs. Madeline Woodman, Salisbury, Chapter 78 Vice President; Donald L. DeVeau, Haverhill, Chapter President; and Walter Kraushaar (kneeling), Chester, N.H., who procured the seedlings as part of the Pioneers' continuing ecology program.

Turtle Race Is Featured

On Tuesday evening, May 7, Cub Scout Troop 71 of the Shawsheen School held its monthly night meeting in the Music Room at the West Junior High School. The feature of the month was a turtle race, the wooden turtles being made by the boys and their parents. First prize ribbon winners in the order of the games played were (1) Greg Goldman, (2) Rodger FitzGerald, (3) Jeffrey Stafford, (4) Scott Silva and (5) Ricky Moreau. An added feature was two live mud turtles which were brought in by Rodger FitzGerald. They were caught in the Shawsheen River by a friend of his at a neighboring school.

Wolf badges were presented to Ricky Moreau and Greg Goldman by Cub Masters Bob Deacon and Robert Rose, as well as the troop leader Steven Webber. Steve also led the boys in doing comical joke skits which were enjoyed by a total of approximately 37 youngsters and adults combined.

Refreshments were served, consisting of fancy cupcakes and beverages. All children at Shawsheen School are reminded that the Cub Scouts are sponsoring the Junk Yard Derby to be held June 1, a Saturday, at the school and the Derby is open to all, both boys and girls. Hope to see you there. The next regular meetings will be scheduled for 3 on Tuesday afternoons at the school.

PRESENTATION. Proceeds of the Passion Play presented by Andover churches in March were presented to Turning Point, Christian coffee house on Essex street, Andover last Wednesday night. On hand for the presentation were, left to right, Richard Scarborough, Christ church; Rev. Daniel Wright, South; John McIntyre, Ballard Vale United; William Watson, Turning Point director; Rev. Earl B. Robinson, Andover Baptist Church and Ad Annick, St. Augustine's.

Proceeds Aid Turning Point

Representatives of the churches of Andover presented a check for $313 to the Director of Turning Point, William Watson, on May 8, to be used in the work there among the youth.

Turning Point is a Christian Coffeehouse affording a meeting place for youth and providing a program of music, Bible study, food and fellowship.

Making the presentation were John McIntyre of Ballard Vale United Church, Richard Scarborough of Christ Church, Edward Annick of St. Augustine's Church, Rev. Earl Robinson of Andover Baptist Church and Rev. Daniel Wright of South Church.

The check represented the proceeds from a community project sponsored by the Andover churches during Lent when they brought the professional Cape Cod Players here to present "The Passion" depicting scenes from the ministry and suffering of Christ.

The churches of Andover had a two-fold purpose. They wanted to provide the town with a spiritual experience during Lent, and then to support a spiritual community work that was helping the town.

Students View '76 Presidential Nominees

Editors' Note: Bernard M. Edelstein, a student at Andover High School, is a finalist in the Donald R. Dwight Essay contest. The Andover student submitted his entry on who he felt would be the next Presidential candidates. Lieutenant Governor Dwight provided the list of topics. Edelstein is a finalist from the northeast region of the state along with Linda Grissino of Georgetown and Susan Stuebing of Chelmsford. His essay follows:

Although it's still premature, it is intriguing to forecast who will be the contenders for the position that many consider the most powerful in the world. At this point numbers of relative unknowns have not even appeared. One can only vaguely conjecture who might be seeking to peak his political career in 1976.

As far as party power is concerned, many are predicting that the repercussions of Watergate will shatter the Republican stance. Practically every citizen recognizes it as an important issue. Certainly the setup for a Democrat in office is superb.

Economically, few argue that times could be much worse. The victims of skyrocketing inflation and a crippling energy crisis, the public watches a declining economy sink into a recession. Problems are blamed on the Nixon Administration, the GOP, an inefficient Congress, worldwide economic distress, corrupt big business and virtually endless other items.

The Republicans are in trouble, however the Democrats have been responsible for some fairly self destructive actions. Maybe the most damaging is the desire of every man to be a hero. In the past, an ineffective party core was unable to control internal bickering. Though the Democrats may have the upperhand, the Republicans should not be forgotten. Basically the issue is who will choose the more appealing candidate.

Among Republicans, the trend is to disassociate from Richard Nixon. Familiar party regulars who have maintained a low profile include Ronald Reagan, Barry Goldwater and Nelson Rockefeller. While Gerald Ford's figure lurks in the background, what many feel is a lack of leadership and charisma will probably keep him from ever reaching the presidency.

Perhaps best for the Republicans is a man like Charles Percy or Lowell Weiker, two totally independent senators. However the party chiefs would rather risk a defeat than make a relative leftist their spokesman.

Probably the most outstanding new Republican name is Eliot Richardson, a popular young politician who became an overnight martyr. However the memory of Richardson's "Saturday night massacre" cannot survive for three years. He realizes that it is safer to bide his time, make a bid for Massachusetts governorship and eventually reach the top.

Thus one of the older candidates will probably become the nominee. Ronald Reagan seems to lack the ability to gain the people's faith, and at times his extreme ideas have antagonized many. Though Barry Goldwater has projected a strongly moralistic image and has honestly appraised the Watergate situation he is too conservative to please party leaders.

More or less by process of elimination the victor is Nelson Rockefeller, a candidate who is older at best and perhaps even outdated. However Rockefeller is a moderate who has successfully avoided Richard Nixon. In earlier years his relatively liberal ideology won friends in the Republican left. Now he can comfortably make conservative statements and offer hardline suggestions to current domestic problems.

As for the Democrats, their ranks boast both older figures and several new faces.

The careers of Hubert Humphrey and Edmund Muskie were at least temporarily ended when their images were ruined in 1972.

Breaking with tradition and nominating a man who was known as a radical bumbler was definitely a one time experiment for the Democrats. George McGovern's disastrous loss brought an end to brave liberalism and resulted in a direct push back to the center.

In 1976 the public will be waiting for the return of the mythical Kennedy era. Despite what anyone may preach about morality or Chappaquiddick, Ted Kennedy could easily win the nomination. Many party powers owe him favors and many people admire him. Even the other candidates seem to be hovering in anticipation, waiting for the dynamic figure to announce his intentions before they announce theirs. Despite the favorable conditions Ted Kennedy will not accept the nomination. The possibility of revival of Chappaquiddick and the treat of death, be it literal of political are too real. Kennedy prefers his soft senate seat and he enjoys the aura of power that surrounds him. The hero of the liberals, he will string the party along, and eventually will decline the nomination while his peers scurry for the coveted position.

Two well known challengers are Henry Jackson and George Wallace. Wallace is stronger than ever, for many Republicans are willing to side with him. But his political positions, which remain outrageous to all but the most conservative Democratic leaders will place him in his third party, unable to muster enough support for a victory.

This leaves Henry Jackson. His only opposition includes several young congressmen, eager to win in this "year of the Democrats." Walter Mondale, Lloyd Bentsen and Birch Bayh are already vying for the position.

Although Mondale is fairly bright and full of ambition his total lack of charisma, wit or charm make his prospects dismal. Bentsen and Bayh are intelligent and eager moderate leftists, but they are still too young and relatively unknown.

Again by elimination the nominee is Jackson, a hawkish conservative man with definite ideas for both domestic and foreign policy. Jackson has gathered strong support from many groups and most party chieftains are willing to endorse him. Jackson could also control the south, a region which has become increasingly Republican over the past few years.

In 1960 the Republicans ran Barry Goldwater for president. He was called an ultra conservative. In 1972 the Democrats nominated George McGovern, a man who was named a radical leftist. Now, at least for the present, both sides assume that their greatest strength lies in a middle of the road candidate.

In 1976, the Republicans will need an amazingly effective campaign. Nelson Rockefeller, a man with a good name who has antagonized relatively few people in his long political career can possibly takeover the presidency.

The Democrats, eager to grab the executive position in such an excellent period, will avoid all risks. Henry Jackson, a conservative Democrat whose popularity is constantly increasing, would be the proper choice for the Democratic party.

Because extremists tend to alienate the masses, in 1976 the political parties will make cautious choices.

First P.A. Bazaar May 18

It will be a fair atmosphere on the Phillips Academy campus Saturday, May 18, for all comers.

Balloons, streamers, booths, turtle races, baked goods, pony rides, games for children and adults will be set up on the Great Quadrangle of the campus, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The afternoon auction which climaxes the Bazaar will hold forth on the pillared steps of Samuel Phillips Hall, which overlooks the Elm Vista facing Main Street.

Bazaar visitors may walk up the Elm Vista from Main Street to the fair, or approach from either Salem Street or the Evans Science parking lot, or walk through the campus from the Chapel Avenue entrance.

Among the local students leading preparations for the bazaar are Laura Broaddus, 77 Bartlet St., and Pamela Yameen, 493 Lowell St., Lawrence.

Open House At East Junior High

The Annual Spring Open House at the East Junior High School will be held this year on Monday Evening, May 20. Parents and other guests are asked to assemble in the school auditorium at 7:30 p.m. Following a mini-concert, visitors will be encouraged to tour the building observing the many and varied student exhibits and demonstrations. All departments in the school will be participating which assures guests of a wide variety of educational experiences.

Please do plan to join us on the evening of the 20th. The evening's activities are open to the general public, and we are sure that all will find it a couple of hours well spent. Refreshments, prepared by Andover East Junior High School Students, will be served in the cooking room throughout the evening.

Acrylics Feature For Artists

John C. Terelak, painter and instructor of fine arts and a graduate and faculty member of Vesper George School of Art, as well as artist in residence for the Cambridge public schools, will demonstrate the use of acrylics at the final monthly Guild meeting for the 1973-74 season on Sunday, May 19, at 2:30 p.m., in the meeting room of the Bay State National Bank, Andover.

Mr. Terelak, resident of Rockport and recipient of many awards in major shows throughout the country, is associated with a number of art organizations and galleries in the United States. Regarding his work Robert Taylor, Boston Globe critic, recently wrote: "He paints pictures people can relate to. His handling of mixed media monotype, employing additions of color, masked areas and spectral after-images is idiosyncratic and vivid."

Refreshments will be served following the demonstration. Mrs. James J. St. Germain.

hostess, will be assisted by Mrs. Linwood Hilton, Miss Dorothy G. Corkhill and Mrs. James E. Carson.

Honest Appraisal

The selectmen, through their representative and colleague Edward Sullivan, will inform the Greater Lawrence Solid Waste Committee tonight that Andover does not have a suitable site for a proposed regional resource recovery plant.

The decision is based on factual presentations made by the town manager and his recommendation.

It is an honest appraisal of the matter. Looking into the reason, one can safely determine that it is not a snob attitude which led to rejection of having the regional solid waste problem solved within Andover borders.

Andover zoning regulations would have to be changed, an item which would be difficult to get through a town meeting. The areas available in town are far removed from a central point to serve the participating communities, thus casting doubt as to the economic feasibility of an Andover location.

Too, there is no immediate use for the end product of the resource recovery plant in the community.

For these reasons, Andover will not offer a site, as other Greater Lawrence communities have.

Initial reaction well could be that Andover is snobbish in its attitude, rather than being honest.

But examine some of the sites which have been submitted.

Lawrence Alderman Robert Lippe offered use of a portion of Den Rock Park. Chances of use of the area for such purposes, of course, are distinctly remote.

North Andover submitted its present sanitary landfill site as possible location, but its accessibility appears to rule this out.

Methuen has three potential sites, and a desire to accommodate the project particularly with its lure of financial return.

The community which houses the pilot project being fostered by the state, will obtain 50 cents a ton in lieu of taxes for use of the property.

Haverhill also has some sites to be considered, as well as a quantity of solid waste to increase the per diem tonnage to be processed at the plant.

Therefore, it seems Andover's honest appraisal of the situation from the outset is far better than making simply token offerings.

Encroachment

The state government in Massachusetts, which from all appearances, continues to have a difficult time functioning properly, continue its attempts to infringe upon the rights of local communities.

The selectmen this week were apprised of a bill in the state senate which would provide mandatory salary schedules for building inspectors.

As could be expected the local selectmen and other officials, are registering their protests to such action.

Their point is that they maintain local towns and cities have a very good idea of how much they can afford to pay their officials, regardless of what their particular service to the community involves.

Their opposition to passage of such a bill casts no reflection on the incumbent inspector in Andover, the board emphasized, simply the fact that such provision provides further encroachment on home rule.

We agree.

Off The Top Of The Desk

The lush appearance of grass, after spring feeding, weeding, and the rains is a pleasant sight until the weekend when it has to be mowed.

Reminds of the little aside about the snow shovel looking nice in the corner as you push by it with the lawn mower.

If the regular season play of the National Basketball Association could hold sway during the regular season, it certainly would be more appealing.

The defense put up by the World Champion Celtics and the Milwaukee Bucks, certainly made for exciting and rewarding viewing.

During the regular season the game seems to be just a back and forth on the court sort of automatic type game.

That town meetings with an issue of interest still produce good attendance is evidenced by the Marblehead session this week where over 3,000 voters turned out to turn down a new high school for the community.

Also, of interest to Andover voters, might be the action of the Scituate voters who rejected construction of an incinerator to take the place of their banned sanitary landfill.

Sounds a little familiar.

As we view the availability and the price of gas these days, we are inclined to go along with Boston's Jess Cain who noted there never really was a gas shortage. Just the cheap gas was scarce.

The Channel 2 Auction Art Preview will be open to the public at the Prudential Center in the lobby of the Tower building from May 21 to May 28, noon to 8 p.m. Thousands of Channel 2 viewers will have the opportunity to inspect the art works and place written bids before the televised auction on "Art Night," Sunday, June 2, from 6 p.m. to midnight, during WGBH's weeklong fund-raising auction.

More than 275 art objects, including paintings, sculpture, antiques, and jewelry, have been chosen for the Prudential exhibit by an anonymous selection committee. Among the many noted artists who have contributed works to the 1974 auction are: Lawrence Sisson, Otis Philbrick, Virginia Mortenson - Francis, Charles Demetropoulos, Marlis Schratte, Ralph Cahoon, Robert Benson, Chon Day, Vin Crabill and Loring Coleman.

During last year's auction, art was the most successful category of items sold. Of the $566,000 grossed by the 1973 auction, $77,986 resulted from the sale of art objects.

Televising of the Ninth Annual Channel 2 Auction begins May 31 through June 8.

"The Golden Semi-Circle," an in depth study of Route 128, is the title of the latest survey conducted by the Massachusetts Department of Commerce and Development. Companies located along Route 128 from Gloucester to Braintree are listed by town along with their employment figure and type of operation. The phenomenal growth and background of this industrial artery is reviewed over the past 18 years from 39 companies in 1955 to 1,212 companies employing 83,649 in over 32 million square feet of building space.

Copies may be obtained by writing to: Massachusetts Department of Commerce and Development, Frederick A. Centanni, Commissioner, 100 Cambridge St., 13th Floor, Boston, Mass., 02202.

New interests are developing among volunteers at the New England Aquarium, located on Central Wharf in Boston. Since the Aquarium opened in 1969, volunteers have been serving in many capacities. In the Education Department, they serve as guides to Aquarium visitors, but volunteers also staff the busy Gift Shop, and in the Curatorial Department, they assist in the care of aquatic animals. Volunteers with advanced scientific training may find an assignment in the Research Department.

Education Department volunteers - gallery associates - are taking on a new look. They are participating in a unique Volunteer Training Course which will enable them to provide interesting and educational talks about all aspects of the "world of water." Sponsored by the Education Department, the program is designed to provide volunteers with practical and pertinent information about the Aquarium - its exhibits, history, organization, purpose - and, in addition, comprehensive information about all of our water environments.

The course comprises three introductory lectures about the Aquarium itself, followed by in-depth lectures on marine and freshwater invertebrates and vertebrates; themes, concepts and relationships in the water world; and a discussion of techniques relating to the elementary school child. Study of these techniques prepares volunteers to relate to the thousands of school children who visit the Aquarium as part of their educational experience.

Anne Gary-Siegel of the Education Department coordinated the new program that was attended by more than 20 volunteers at each of the pilot sessions. Offered on an on-going basis, the course will be required for all volunteers who wish to qualify as gallery associates. Some of these associates will also have an opportunity to serve as guides to groups with special needs.

Upon completion of the Volunteer Training Course, volunteers may enter the Field Associate Program. Field Associates visit elementary school classrooms where they prepare children for an Aquarium visit through presentation of an audio-visual preview. Volunteers in other departments of the Aquarium will be required to attend the introductory lectures only, but are invited to attend the entire program.

The summer Volunteer Training Course will begin on June 25 and conclude on July 23. Sessions will be held twice a week

What Our Readers Say-

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN:

Fifty per cent of the Andover teachers did not sign the open letter to the School Committee published in the TOWNSMAN on May 2. I am one of them. I shall not go from school to school gathering signatures, but shall simply state my personal opinion.

I consider our system of evaluation as definitely in need of improvement. For example, the practice of evaluation of any person by one single evaluator is totally unacceptable. (as is done for department heads)

The demotion of two members of the school personnel, by the School Committee, has created quite a furor. However, many demotions, forced resignations, unwanted transfers have taken place in the last few years. Were the reasons made public? No. Were there any protests, uproar? None. Does the fact that they were done by the administration make them more acceptable?

As to the procedure used for placing personnel on tenure, is it really unusual to question some cases and not others? Discussions of this kind should have remained confidential; they were not. Who is at fault?

This emotional issue - someone is fanning the flames - has overshadowed the most important fact: the School Committee has received from the town of Andover a clear mandate to change the direction of the educational system. I wish to affirm my complete support of that goal. The so-called progressive education is "creating a nation of illiterates" (Readers Digest April 1974) and anyone who reads and listens knows that there is a nationwide trend toward a return to a more traditional approach.

I have been teaching in the Andover schools since 1960 and I have seen, in the last few years, a steady decline not only in students achievements, but also, and more alarming, in their ability to learn. With equal and even superior intelligence, the "now" students have a great deal of difficulty in absorbing and especially in retaining material which presented no problem to students of preceding years. Why?

The present permissive education has bred students whose memory is deficient, who are unable or unwilling to produce a consistent effort, who lack in self-discipline, and who expect to be entertained at all times. Therefore, teachers are forced to dilute their courses more and more each year. The results are well known.

It is time to reverse this trend and reemphasize the value of hard work and the facts that learning is not just a "pleasurable experience" and that failure does exist. Teachers are teachers, they are neither "facilitators" nor entertainers, nor should they try too hard at being "pals."

The people of Andover demand and deserve a return to a healthier educational climate. The School Committee is attempting to implement their wishes. Let us not judge them emotionally on a couple of decisions blown out of proportion, decisions which might be unpopular, but which they may consider necessary. Let us give them a chance.

Suzanne P. Coates
Chairman Foreign Language Department
East Junior High School

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN:

I would like to remind Messrs. Olesen, Wragg and Lyons of the right of all the citizens of the Town of Andover to attend and to participate in the public sessions of the Andover School Committee. These gentlemen pay lip-service to encouraging parental involvement in the schools, but underneath it all, they seem to fear and resent the interest being shown by the large numbers of parents who have begun attending School Committee meetings.

When a simple survey of those people attending Tuesday's School Committee meeting indicated that at least that many would attend the next meeting, it was a colossal waste of everyone's time to continue discussing and proposing the Stowe School as the locale for the next meeting. And, it would be a further waste of everyone's valuable time to set the next meeting for a small meeting room, and then, when 100 or more people show up, to have to move everyone to another location, causing delays, and the very "confusion" that certain School Committee members found irritating about the planning for the May 7 meeting.

On top of what preceded this proposal of Mr. Olesen's during Tuesday's meeting, I cannot help but wonder just what motivated this idea. Was it really just to set a standard meeting place for the School Committee, even though it was obvious that such proposed meeting place would be woefully inadequate, or was it more an attempt to discourage people from coming to the meetings? Whatever the motivation, it was a wasted 15 minute discussion which should have been devoted to far more constructive pursuits.

To Mr. Wragg's comment that it was unnecessary to provide for an alternate location for the meeting should the Stowe School in fact not be adequate to handle the crowd, I submit that this is just another indication that we who are attending the School Committee meetings fear any attempt that appears to infringe on our right of attendance at and participation in School Committee meetings.

Spinach-Pushers, Arise

Fresh spinach - that versatile succulent despised by kids and pushed by mothers for uncounted generations - is plentiful in the Bay State this week, reports the Massachusetts Department of Agriculture (MDA). Fresh-picked from the field, it's an excellent value by the pound at most of our roadside farm stands.

So it's a good value and a good, healthful, flavorful food. The kids of the Commonwealth couldn't care less. Nor could at least an entire generation of parents, who were raised in the era just before the advent of vitamin supplements, and thus were the victims of spinach-pushing mothers who knew in their hearts that their kids' bones would melt if they didn't force the stuff down. Spinach was full of iron, they were told, and they passed this folk wisdom on. . . only to make this useful vegetable perhaps the least popular growing thing in the country.

There came a time, however, when the wisdom changed, and spinach was officially OUT. So some kids even began to like it. Now, with the debunking past, it's known to be an excellent source of Vitamin A, B, C and B-2. . . but, more important to the homemaker, spinach is one of the most easily combined and flexibly used vegetables available. Salads, souffles, pies, omelets, croquettes, dumplings, soups, stuffings. . . the recipes available in almost any respectable cookbook are plentiful and imaginative.

You can be a spinach-pusher today. . . and be loved for it.

Fresh, native rhubarb is also coming in direct from local fields, in good quantity and reasonably priced. You can even stock up - it keeps as long as three weeks when cooked and refrigerated, and indefinitely when cooked and frozen. Look for the plump, pink stalks at your nearby farm stand.

Fresh, native eggs rate Best Buy status this week, after a long period of high prices, with Jumbos around 90 cents, and a good 10-cent spread between sizes. Not long ago you paid a dollar and more for a dozen Jumbo eggs.

We're into the home planting season, with lots of bedding plants - both flower and vegetable - at farm stands and markets. What's a "bedding plant?" They're so-called in the farming trade from having been nurtured in "hot beds." A hot bed is a cold frame. Both are simply glass coverings - usually a three-by-six-foot window - slanted over the flats on the ground. Growing plants this way makes them hardy for transplanting in the ground. Simple enough, but confusing. . .

The new manual, Standard First Aid and Personal Safety, published in late 1973, will be used. Most comprehensive and extensively illustrated, it includes for the first time problems created by drugs and their abuse.

Academy To Present Choral Work

The Phillips Academy Chorus and Band will perform Carl Orff's Carmina Burana Friday, May 31 at 8 p.m. in George Washington Hall at Phillips Academy in Andover. They will be joined by the Youth Pro Musica, a well-known children's choir from Boston, and by soloists Rene de La Garza (baritone) of the New England Conservatory; Martha Frederick (soprano), a Phillips Academy senior from Harvard; and William Rees, (tenor), a recent Phillips Academy graduate who lives in Andover.

Carmina Burana is a major modern choral work, based on a collection of poems popular in 14th century Germany. The subjects treated include Spring, love, drinking, and the fickleness of Fortune. The words are sometimes in Latin, sometimes in old German. The poets remain anonymous, but they were probably students, wandering monks, and the like. Some Phillips Academy students are preparing a complete translation for the program.

Orff's music is very lively and festive, relying on catchy melodies and driving rhythms throughout. The latter is the particular responsibility of two pianos and nine percussionists!

James Harwood, assistant director of the Phillips Academy Band, will conduct. The singers are being prepared by Mrs. Christine Johnston, Chorus director, and Mrs. Roberta Humez, director of the Youth Pro Musica. Featured student performers will include William Cunliffe and Matthew Van Atta at the two pianos; Laura Liberman, celeste; Peter Kapetan, Scott McIsaac, Shipley Munson, George Redman and Richard Romeo, singers.

Admission is free, and the public is cordially invited to attend.

High Scores In Spanish Honored

Andover High School, on May 8, hosted an award reception for the high scorers in the 17th annual National Spanish Contest, an examination sponsored by the American Association of Teachers of Spanish and Portuguese.

Pupils from East and West Junior High Schools, the high school and Phillips Academy received a total of 32 awards in categories ranging from first semester seventh graders with no outside experience, to fourth and fifth year students who are native speakers or have lived in Spanish-speaking countries.

Mrs. Judith Morris, the local chairman, presented the awards, followed by a guitar selection by Linda Schofield, and Spanish treats including "tarta de almen-dra" (almond tarts), "bunuelos de Limon" (lemon fritters), and a tropical punch prepared by the home economics department.

The examination was given at Andover High School on April 10, with the cooperation of the local schools and teachers and tested more than 200 participants on their expertise in listening comprehension, reading and writing.

The National winners will be announced at a later date.

Federal Funds Are Increased

Essex County's allocation of federal revenue sharing funds for the fiscal year starting July 1 has been increased by $378,710, it was revealed Tuesday at a meeting of the County Commissioners.

Federal funds co-ordinator John J. Quigley objected in March to the U.S. Treasury Dept. that use of outdated figures by the federal government was shortchanging the county.

He reported Tuesday the Bureau of Revenue Sharing agreed and has increased from $428,581 to $807,291 the amount the county government will receive.

Commissioner Daniel J. Burke lauded Quigley for his alertness which, Burke said, will result in the additional money.

In other action, the Commissioners conferred with John Walker, architect for the new Salem District court. The Board then went on record favoring a four story Salem court with a mall-like complex.

Project Construction Management, Inc. of Great Neck, N.Y. was hired as the construction management firm for the new Salem and Peabody courts and other county projects.

Cahill Is Candidate For Post

State Representative Robert E. Cahill (D-Salem) has announced that he will be a candidate for county sheriff in the upcoming autumn election. Cahill announced last week that he would not be seeking re-election as state representative, a seat which he has held for the past five years, representing Salem and three precincts in Swampscott. Cahill's move comes only a few days after Sheriff Roger Wells declared he would not seek re-election to another six year term.

Bob Cahill stated that he will not accept the free food, house, and utility payments that go with the sheriff's job.

"I would like to turn the 13 room house located next to the Salem jail into a halfway house or rehabilitation center," said Cahill. "I presently live only a few hundred yards from the jail and would have no problem keeping an eye on things from my present home. Besides," added Cahill, "I see no reason why the taxpayers of Essex County should have to pay for the food and keep of myself, my wife and four children. That should be my responsibility - - and mine alone."

Bob Cahill, age 39, is a graduate of Boston University and of The Army Security Intelligence School at Fort Devens. He served as an army security officer in Eritrea, East Africa for two years.

Bob Cahill also has administrative experience, serving as national community relations supervisor for John Hancock Insurance Company for 6 years, and public relations account executive for Culver Advertising in Boston, the largest industrial agency in the northeast.

He was councilor-at-large in Salem before becoming a state representative in 1969. In the legislature, Cahill served on the Joint State Committee of Natural Resources, State Administration Committee, Committee on Marine Boundaries, and was recently appointed to the Governor's Task Force on Coastal Resources. He is chairman of the State's Committee on Harbor Development and Artificial Reefs. He lives at 40 Felt St., Salem, with his wife Sandra (Howard) and their four children.

Further Increase In Rates

New England Power Company, a subsidiary of the New England Electric System, was today notified of a $39.7 million rate increase by the Federal Power Commission to become effective May 15, 1974, subject to further investigation and possible refunds.

The Commission's action accelerated the original effective date of September 1, 1974. This action was taken after the company demonstrated that without immediate relief its construction program would have to be severely curtailed. Company earnings had plummeted to such a low level that the company could not sell bonds or preferred shares to finance its construction activities. This increase will be billed to New England Power Company's three affiliated retail companies: $26.5 million to Massachusetts Electric Company; $8.7 million to The Narragansett Electric Company and $800,000 to the Granite State Electric Company, and the balance of $3.7 million to 30 non-affiliated customers. It is anticipated that the retail affiliates will be shortly filing with their respective state public utility commissions to recover these increased costs.

Hurlbert Datsun makes house calls

Starting today, we'll bring a new Datsun right to your home or office to make it easier for you to see any of the new 1974 Datsuns. Just give us a call and tell us which Datsun model you're interested in, and we'll be happy to drive to your home or place of business to show you the car and let you drive it. There's no charge for this service and you'll be under no obligation to buy anything. After all, we didn't become the No. 1

Datsun dealer in Massachusetts (for the past two years in a row) by waiting for the world to come to us. By the way, you really should see the all-new Datsun B-210. Motor Trend magazine, in its March issue, published the results of a mileage test of 50 leading economy cars and the Datsun B-210 came out on top. The B-210 got 35 miles per gallon in this test and beat out Volkswagen, Toyota, Honda, Pinto, Vega and all the others. Right now we have a giant selection of B-210's and all other 1974 Datsun models ready for immediate delivery. Take a test drive today. Datsun is the low-priced economy car that beats all the others in gas mileage.

Tastier Tomatoes Ahead For Shoppers

Tastier tomatoes are in the offering for consumers as the result of a new variety developed by agricultural scientists in Florida. The new tomato can be harvested when it's fully ripe. Most present varieties are usually picked when pinkripe to prevent spoilage before reaching consumers.

Called the Florida MH-1, the new variety is reported to hold up well in harvesting, packing, and shipping.

Market tests on the new red type showed strong customer preference for it over pink-ripe varieties.

Banton, Butler Are Named To Boards

William E. Banton, recently retired president of the Greater Lawrence Chamber of Commerce, was appointed to a five year term on the planning board by Town Manager J. Maynard Austin, Monday.

Robert Butler, president of Harbor Investment Corp. was appointed to a seven-year term on the Memorial Hall Library Trustees, by the manager, both appointments having the unanimous approval of the selectmen.

Banton will replace John Sheehy on the planning board. He is director of manufacturing and engineering services at Western Electric Co. Merrimack Valley Works.

A graduate of Northeastern University and the recipient of a Master's degree from Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Banton has been involved in chamber of commerce work, he was active in the Newark, N.J. chamber before coming to Andover in 1971.

William E. Banton

He has just completed his term as president of the Greater Lawrence chamber.

Butler, who recently formed his investment company in Andover, will replace Mrs. Thayer Warshaw on the library trustees.

Regan

bumper stickers hit the streets.

DiAdamo, denying that he was instigator of such a campaign, said he too had heard the rumors and that he has checked out the mechanisms for recall, "just as I am considering any avenue, every possibility that would present him with a public hearing."

DiAdamo said that last week the School Committee said it would publicly state the reasons Regan was dismissed from his assistant superintendent's spot, but that they would not hold a public hearing.

"I feel an explanation alone would not be valid," he said. "If we can't present independent opinions, cross examine the committeemen on their reasons, then what's the point?"

"They haven't convinced at least 4,700 townspeople their reasons were valid," he went on, referring to a petition presented to the committee four weeks ago asking for a public hearing for Regan and Becker.

The recall procedure, he said, would involve calling, by petition, for a special town meeting, a charter amendment and an election. It would be a long, process, he said.

Another possibility mentioned this week, which would likely require the same procedure, would be expansion of the school committee. Town Meeting, in the 1940's, reduced the size of the committee from nine to five.

Meanwhile, next week's school committee has been slated for Stowe School, according to the committee's vote at last week's session. However, it will be moved to East Jr. High, if the 35 to 40 seats in the Stowe meeting room does not prove adequate.

Superintendent Kenneth R. Seifert will again be reviewing his recommendations, along with the school committee's comments, for a number two man. High School Principal Philip Wormwood is expected to present a report on college board scores.

Poppy Drive Proclamation

Milton Greenberg, chairman of the board of selectmen, has signed a proclamation declaring this weekend Buddy Poppy Days in Andover.

The proclamation notes the sacrifices made by those who have engaged in the protection of democracy in these United States. Purchase of Buddy Poppies assists those confined to hospitals due to their sacrifices. The poppies are made by disabled veterans and the proceeds are used exclusively for the benefit of the disabled veterans and their families.

Chairman Greenberg, in the proclamation urges residents to assist in the poppy days program to recognize the sacrifices made as well as assist the disabled veterans.

Members of Andover Post 2128 will be selling poppies in the downtown area both Friday and Saturday this week.

Registration For Summer School At West

The Andover Elementary Summer School will be in session beginning July 1 and ending July 26. Academic courses including Mathematics, Reading, Linguistics, Typing and Speech Therapy will be offered. Registration will take place at West Elementary School on June 3 and 4 from 3:30 p.m. until 5 p.m. Registration for Andover Recreation / Community Schools Department will be held at this time for children attending the academic summer school at West Elementary School.

An entire summer program outline and all playground registration dates will be listed in the TOWNSMAN next week.

Doyle Land Discussed

The Doyle Land acquisition, approved at town meeting which appropriated $310,000 for its purchase, came under discussion by the selectmen Monday night.

Classifying of the land to qualify for federal and state reimbursement was brought up by Selectman Alan F. French, who noted that if the entire parcel was acquired as conservation property, the town would probably qualify for 75 per cent reimbursement.

He cautioned, however, that the town should not preclude the possibility of future use for active recreation use. Doing so may require sectioning off part of the property which would then qualify for only 50 per cent in reimbursements.

The selectmen agreed that the negotiation and acquisition of the property should follow a course which would designate the parcel as both passive and active recreation.

It is estimated by Selectman French that possibly ten per cent of the land could be considered useable for active recreation purposes.

Lane A Censur

School Committee William Lane received a friendly ovation from a crowd in East Andover Tuesday night reading a public letter censuring his four members of the committee, and his impudence against them.

The "other four" had received notice to appear in Salem Superior Court to show cause why the committee, which claimed a breach of code of ethics of the Massachusetts Association of School Committees, should be declared null and void. Chairman Francis
